Ben Klosky

benklosky@uchicago.edu – LinkedIn – benklosky.com

Center for RISC, University of Chicago — Chicago, IL
Senior Analyst — 08/2024 – Present

- Design and pilot new ventures as a founding team member for Freakonomics' Steve Levitt
- Founding member (and sole engineer) at Foster Insights
    - Product owner for our core webapp, which landed a $1.5m grant
    - Met with many users in order to design products from scratch
    - Led core product & engineering strategy for a lean 6 person team
    - Designed natural language inference pipeline that won a PBIF grant
- Developed and tried GTM strategies for an organ transplantation nonprofit
- Taught math in Phoenix, AZ during an operational crisis at our experimental high school

Freddie Mac — Mclean, VA
Engineering Associate II — 05/2022 – 07/2024

- Fit models to classify likely incident root causes & deduplicate alerts
- Identified risky privilege inheritances in our AD access control graph
- Built full-stack webapps to operationalize my models for internal customers

Urban Institute — Washington, DC
Research Intern — 01/2023 – 08/2023

- Researched with Dr. Robert Lerman, institute fellow, during grad school
- Published frameworks for apprenticeships in unconventional fields
- Wrote about police reform in the Wall Street Journal, Newsweek, others
- Worked with Maryland legislators to change their police recruiting model

Fairfax County Police Department — Fairfax, VA
Police Cadet (Apprenticeship) — 06/2018 – 08/2019

- Learned policework on-the-job. Plainclothes stings, fingerprinting, testifying, etc.
- While assigned to the helicopter unit, helped with S&R ops and maintenance tasks

Education

American University — Washington, DC
M.A. Economics — 05/24
Capstone: Causally evaluating a Chicago police reform pilot
Coursework: Real Analysis, Harmonic Analysis, Econometrics

George Mason University — Fairfax, VA
B.S. Information Systems & Operations Management — 08/22
Minor, Economics

Northern Virginia Community College — Fairfax, VA
Legal studies classes at night school, while apprenticing at a police department — 08/19